2009 ZAGAT Review:

2009 ZAGAT Review: “Ever had a sundae bigger than your head?” – “don’t pretend you want anything else” – just “forget food and your diet” because “it’s all about the dripping goblets” of “delicious”, “homemade, old-fashioned ice cream” at “Oakland’s oldest and best” soda fountain where it’s “worth the battle to get a table”; if you must eat before the “frivolity” of dessert (“one taste and you feel like you won the lottery”), try the “diner-style choices” like the “delightful” “fat, fresh crab sandwiches”; N.B. an offshoot has opened at Oakland International Airport’s Terminal 2.
